No Tax Cut Soon
But It Wasn't
Honestly Expected

Our Saturday edition had some unpleasant news about the federal budget and taxes, and there was more of the same in Sunday's papers.

The news early Saturday came from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey who said the budget couldn't be balanced for 1953-54 and the national debt limit of 275 billion dollars might have to be raised by congress.

Saturday night dispatches published Sunday gave some specific details from Senate Majority Leader Taft. The Ohio Republican said it looked like the Eisenhower administration would start the new fiscal year July 1 with a prospective deficit of 11 billions.

Reading further along you discover that former President Truman estimated the 1953-54 budget at 78.6 billions, with revenue of 61.7 billions, pointing to a deficit of 16.9. Now Senator Taft figures the new administration will be able to slash the budget to 74 billions, but revenues aren't coming up to what Truman expected. It appears the tax take will be only 65 billion, possibly 63.

The revenue calculations assume that the automatic tax cuts provided by present law will be permitted to take effect. One is the excess profits tax on corporations, scheduled to die in its entirety June 30; the other is a 10-per-cent cut in individual income taxes, due automatically next January 14.

Even so great an advocate of economy in government as Harry F. Byrd, Democratic senator from Virginia, is now saying that the excess profits tax on corporations should be kept on the books, and the scheduled cut in personal income taxes must be abandoned.

What other possible solution is there?

There is a rising tide of sentiment among members of both parties in congress for a complete change in the Chiefs of Staff and a drastic review of the military program which is gobbling half our total federal tax bill; but that's for the future — it has little bearing on the immediate problem of the budget year which starts July 1.

Business men generally did not expect any tax cuts in the new fiscal year. I imagine most of them will feel lucky if we get by without any tax increases. President Eisenhower is demanding, rightly enough, that the government first establish a firm balance between income and outgo.

That takes a good deal of doing for a country which has been trailing the prodigal's road for two decades. This is the first time in all those years that we are beginning to get a strict accounting and a clear picture of just where we stand — how much we really owe, how much expenditure is actually necessary per year, and what this is going to cost us in future taxes. It may not be popular politics to tell the people the brutal truth, but Americans after two world wars have certainly become an adult people — and we know that the very security of the country depends on the people being told the truth today. We can pick up the pieces from there with confidence, no matter how bad the picture.

Any firm wishing to sponsor a team is asked to contact Mike Kelly or Fred Gresham of the parks committee.

Hope Gets New Shot at Jet Bomber Base

The fate of the strategic jet bomber base presumed to be scheduled for construction at Little Rock took a new and uncertain turn today with disclosure of a letter from Glenn R. Davis, Republican congressman from Wisconsin and chairman of the subcommittee on Military Construction of the Committee on Appropriations, declaring he intends to send investigators down here for an on-the-spot survey of the former SPG military airport.

Congressman Davis' letter, dated May 6, was addressed to Oren Harris, Fourth Arkansas District congressman, with a copy to Ben J. Owen, president of Hope Chamber of Commerce; Secretary Ray Lawrence; and Mayor John L. Wilson, Jr.

The chamber of commerce Saturday confirmed the intent of this letter with a telephone call to Congressman Davis. The Wisconsin man said he would send his investigators just as soon as he receives information which he has requested from the Air Force.

All this constitutes a reversal of the trend established last Wednesday, May 6, when The Star published two letters which Congressman Harris had received from Dewayne Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and from the office of the Secretary of Defense. However, Mr. Davis' letter, actually dated May 6, represented the most recent development. The local copy was not received until after publication of the earlier letters.

In view of the Davis letter Hope must still be considered in the running for the jet bomber base site. The Wisconsin congressman, heading a subcommittee of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, represents the budgeting power in congress, while the earlier letters were from committees and offices representing spending power after the budget authority has spoken.

Following is the text of the new letter from Congressman Davis:

Hon. Oren Harris, M. C.
1503 House Office Bldg.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Oren: Last you and your civic-minded constituents from Hope, gain the impression that I have "gone to sleep" with respect to the situation presented to me in my office a couple of weeks ago. I believe a status report is in order.

I have carefully reviewed the brief submitted to me by these gentlemen, and have carefully read the letter of rebuttal which they submitted following your forwarding to them the explanatory statement furnished by the Air Force.

The Air Force now has in its hands the rebuttal submitted to me. After some consideration, I deemed this the best method of attempting to delineate the areas of difference of fact and opinion between the Air Force and the gentlemen representing the Hope community.

It is present intention, after the act of disagreement has been lined out as much as possible, to send investigators for an on-the-spot survey, so that the uncertainty can be remedied and this question resolved.

I understand that the Defense Department is anxious to proceed with establishment of an air facility in Arkansas.

With personal regards, I am

Army Using Powerful New Gun in Korea

By AL KAFF

NEAR THE KOREAN FRONT (UP) — The Army revealed today it was blasting Communist fortifications with a mammoth field artillery howitzer capable of hurling 360 pound shells about 15 miles.

Second in size only to the atomic cannon, the new 240 millimeter howitzer is so large it requires two specially designed trailers and tractors to move it and a powerful crane to position it.

The Army unveiled the king-sized cannon at a demonstration held in a rainstorm before Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, 8th Army commander, President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee of South Korea, almost 200 military guests and corps of United Nations war correspondents.

It was the most spectacular of several new weapons shown at a display of the United Nations' ever-growing fighting power. New vehicles and weapons, including a light hand grenade, also were exhibited.

"We are just beginning to receive some of our new equipment in Korea," Taylor said.

The Army said the new howitzer which has a gun carriage resembling that of the atomic cannon, had been in use for several days, blasting deeply dug Communist artillery caves and bunkers. The number of super-sized cannon in use was kept secret.

While the spectators, including 15 U.S., South Korean and British generals, watched, a crew of 21 cannonners manned the big gun. They fired point blank at a mountain 2,000 yards away.

Exploding shells shot fragments more than 500 yards, kicking up clouds of smoke and mud 100 feet into the air.

Until now, the United States has used nothing in Korea larger than an eight-inch gun in the land fighting.

Ship Sinks in Lake Superior, 16 of 22 Rescued

GRAND MARAIS, Minn., 10 — The Great Lakes freighter Henry Steinbocker, laden with iron ore, went down off Isle Royale in Lake Superior early today. At noon the Coast Guard station here had rescue ship reports that 16 of the 21 men aboard had been picked up and one body recovered.

Other reports said as many as 22 men had been saved and that another body had been sighted.

One rescue vessel, the Clemson, reported it had seven crewmen aboard, none in bad condition and expected to land them at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Commander Donald Call of the Grand Marais Coast Guard station said the one boat, Joseph Thompson, also reported it had saved seven men and that several were in need of medical attention.

Heavy Rains Drench Most of Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains — more than four inches in some areas — drenched Arkansas in the wake of the two small tornadoes which smacked the Russellville area today.

Central Arkansas was the wettest part of the state with more than four inches of rain reported at Bradford, Searcy, and Patterson. Little Rock, however, escaped with less than an inch.

More than three inches of rain were recorded at Jesseville, De Queen, Augusta and Newport, where some hail was also reported.

Acreage for Wheat Sought by PMA

Wheat growers were urged today to come to the County Production and Marketing Administration office at their earliest convenience. Their help is urgently needed to bring farm program records up to date in preparation for possible acreage allotments and marketing quotas on the 1954 wheat crop.

This appeal follows a recent announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that the U. S. Department of Agriculture would immediately start the preliminary work necessary in case production and marketing controls are required for the next wheat crop.

According to H. B. Gilbert, chairman of the County PMA Committee certain information from farmers is absolutely necessary in order to do a sound administrative job of setting equitable acreage allotments for individual farms. Farm allotments will be determined by the community committees.

Data needed includes the farm's wheat acreage and production data for the three years 1951, 1952, and 1953; the legal description of the land, and other pertinent information. If the farmer operates a rented farm he should be able to give such additional information as the name and address of the owner.

Churchill Suggests Top Powers Meet, Try to Agree on Korean Peace

UN Insists on Clear Answer From Chinese

By LEROY HANSEN

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP) — The United Nations Command told the Communists today their plan to end the prisoner exchange deadlock was worded too vaguely and asked for a more direct proposal.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U.N. trustee delegate, said that as it stands now the Communists' eight-point plan is not a "final resolution."

The Communists' chief spokesman, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, said it was "unnecessary to repeat" their proposal, which would give a post-armistice political commission the job of determining finally what to do with anti-Red Allied captives who do not want to go home.

Other than this, Nam had little to say during the 53-minute conference and his unwillingness to reply to Harrison's questioning seemed to tighten the deadlock blocking a truce in Korea.

Jonesboro Sheriff Foils Break Attempt

JONESBORO (UP) — An attempted jail break by an alleged bank robber was foiled here yesterday by an iron-willed sheriff who bluffed his armed prisoner submission.

Sheriff Lonnie Cooper drew his own pistol and faced down Vern James, 21, in James' daring bid for freedom.

James goes on trial May 18 on charges of robbing a Reyno, Ark., bank of more than $33,000 last Dec. 23.

Cooper also took two women into custody on charges of assisting the attempted jail break and is looking for a man wanted on a similar charge.

The women were identified as Wanda Tucker, 25, St. Louis, a sister of James, and Faye Eastwood, 20, a girl friend of the prisoner.

The women and a visitor who identified himself only as a "preacher" were waiting outside when James made his break.

The "preacher" escaped. Cooper said he believed the trio had smuggled two guns and some ammunition to James.

James broke out of his cell after calling a jailer and telling him he wanted to hand some "baggage" out to his sister. He flushed a pistol and forced the turn-key to open the cell door.

James bolted to his three cell mates to "come on" but the trio remained in their cell.

Cooper heard the commotion from his nearby living quarters, grabbed his gun and ran into his office in the jail building.

"Drop your guns," he called to James.

James cried out "don't shoot," surrendered his weapons and returned meekly to his cell.

Cooper said his wife had followed him into the office and that she was grabbed by the Tucker woman while the action was going on.

Cites Change in Russia, Urges Extreme Caution

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill said today he is in favor of a high level conference of the leading powers without any great dealing.

In a House of Commons speech on foreign policy, Churchill said the high level conference should not be hampered by any long agenda, and should be carried out in an atmosphere of informality and privacy and even seclusion.

Churchill was not specific, but supposedly meant he should get together with President Eisenhower and Premier Malenkov. He referred to a "conference at the highest level of the leading powers."

Churchill said this conference might not come to any hard agreement but at least it would lead to a better understanding.

The prime minister reviewed what he called the "change in attitude and, we all hope, mood" that has taken place in Soviet Russia and the Kremlin itself since the death of Stalin.

He appealed for caution in "doing or saying" anything that might continued on Page Three

Court Again Affirms Rate of Interest

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK — The Arkansas Supreme Court today reaffirmed a year-old ruling in deciding three cases involving alleged unlawful interest rates.

In each case, the Court made its decision on basis of the earlier ruling in which it warned that "time price differentials" and other charges that might cloak unlawful interest rates would be scrutinized closely.

In last year's case, the Court said that its own previous opinions had tended possibly to give sanction to these charges. Then it issued a warning — "caution" in legal terminology — that persons who might have charged illegal interest rates could not depend on the earlier court decisions for protection.

In each case today, the Court said it decided as it did because each one had arisen before the current had been issued.

The Court said that the various charges complained of did not constitute usury under rulings in cases decided before issuance of the warning.

All three cases came up on appeal from the Pulaski Chancery Court.

Each involved purchase of an automobile and the same finance company, the Murdoch Acceptance Corp., was a party in each one.

The court rejected pleas of Frances Higgins, Wallace A. Crisco and James L. Aunspaugh that their contracts for purchases of automobiles be voided on the grounds that they called for more than the constitutional maximum interest of 10 per cent.

The Court affirmed the lower court's refusal to void Crisco's tract with Murdoch and on appeal ordered the lower court to set aside a $45 credit for overcharge it had given Crisco against Murdoch.

Each of the remaining two cases referred to the more detailed case decision as a parallel.

The Supreme Court also held L. K. McAdams and others are owners of 40 acres in Arkansas County against the claims of Squash Duncan and others. The ruling affirmed Arkansas Chancery Court.

Also affirmed was Jefferson Circuit Court's refusal to order selection of Robert Girdiron from a Pine Bluff lot claimed A. P. Clark.

Sentence Stay by Gordon to Be Invalidated
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Cherry says he will invalidate a 90-day stay of sentence granted to a former deputy sheriff by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon Saturday.

The stay of sentence was granted to Charlie Ford, former Monticello police officer, sentenced to 10 months in prison on an involuntary manslaughter conviction.

Cherry said that since he was in the state throughout the day Gordon's action was invalid.

This is the second time Gordon has acted contrary to Cherry's announced clemency policies.

The lieutenant governor signed a 90-day furlough for a convict recently while Cherry was in Texas. The governor has said that he would limit furloughs to 15 days and then only in an emergency.

When Cherry returned from Texas, he said he would let the furlough stand but that he would revoke any future furloughs granted in excess of 15 days.

Ford was given the stay of sentence to allow him to clear up personal affairs in New Mexico and also prepare documents for further clemency.

The document said that Ford again was convicted.

at the scene, reported it had several survivors.

Some of those rescued were pulled from the paralyzingly cold water wearing life jackets.

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn. — The Great Lakes freighter Henry, member of the Henry, sank in heavy waves off Isle Royale in Lake Superior with 31 aboard early today. Ships in the vicinity reported sighting a life boat and a raft bearing people.

Eight survivors were on the wind-whipped water, rescue ships said.

The Coast Guard station at Grand Rapids reported it had in received radio messages from the steamer Clemons and the steamer Sykes in the vicinity of the accident.

The message said "have sighted one raft and one life boat with people on them. Not able to pick up yet." Wreckage also was sighted in the area.

The Steinbrenner was reported sunk about 15 miles off the south coast of Isle Royale, about midway between Isle Royale light station and Passage Island at the northeast tip of the island. The area station is located at the tip of the arm forming Siskiwit Bay.

A report from the Clemons heard at 6:25 a.m. said the Steinbrenner had radioed its batches had blown off in strong wind and that it was taking on water.

The Steinbrenner, a 6,500-ton vessel left Duluth at 8 a.m. Sunday with a load of iron ore for town like points.

The ship was reported to have struck a reef in the same vicinity as the ill-fated Empress, a Canadian ship, which went down June 4, 1947. Twelve crewmen lost their lives.

got off with the least amount of rainfall.

In Jonesboro, high winds and a heavy rain blew limbs off trees and inundated the city power plant. Jonesboro streets were flooded and many cars were filled with water.

Weiner, 22 miles south of Jonesboro, also was hit by winds which blew down a 2-room Negro house. A stove was upset, setting the house afire. Five Negroes escaped without serious injury.

A billboard sign in Weiner, just replaced after it was knocked down in a storm a few weeks ago, was blown down again today.

Other reports of heavy rainfall included: Perryville, Glenwood, Heber Springs, Batesville, Alicia, Morrilton, Des Arc and Blytheville.

RUSSELLVILLE (AP) — A dead calm settled over this city yesterday just before two twisting funnels raced from the sky to cause about $40,000 damage to a residential district and fair grounds. No one was injured and the damage estimate was unofficial.

About 40 houses and a motel were damaged, a roller skating rink destroyed, a blacksmith shop flattened and fairground buildings severely battered. State Police reported a number of cars damaged by flying debris.

A Red Cross worker said the funnels came from different directions and met near the fairgrounds of this Pope County seat of some 8,000 persons.

Baptists to Resist Protestant Merger

HOUSTON, Tex., (UP) — The Southern Baptist convention ended yesterday after passing a resolution urging members to resist uniting Protestant movements.

The convention ended with a sermon by Dr. J. D. Grey of New Orleans, retired president.

The convention chose Washington, D. C., as the site of the 1955 conference.

The former officer was convicted in the fatal shooting of Bunyan Wile, April 14, 1951.

An appeal to the Supreme Court resulted in a new trial and Ford again was convicted.

fragments with three times the kick of the old weapon.

The Army also displayed its new lightweight Walker Bulldog tank named for Gen. Walton Walker, 5th Army commander who was killed early in the Korean war.

Other weapons included a 105 millimeter recoilless rifle mounted on a jeep for speedy movement, a new type of rifle trigger located outside the trigger guard so it can be used in the winter by soldiers wearing gloves, and three 100 millimeter mortar launchers.

Weekend Accidents

Climb in Arkansas

Two Pulaski County teen-agers suffered fatal burns and two others injured, when their parked car was struck by another automobile near Little Rock last night.

In a second wreck-end highway accident, an Arkansas soldier on his way home on his first furlough was killed in a motorcycle-car collision at Warren.

Brude White, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, of Little Rock, died when he was struck by a car.

"Terrible injuries have been done each other by the North and South Koreans. But even if both sides only stood still where they were, now and ceased fire and tried to replace foreign troops by Korean forces, even if only that happened — time might once again prove to be a healer."

Referring to the expansion of the Communist-directed military of Indochina, Churchill said he was informed that the position of the anti-Communist forces there now was less severe than was assumed at one time.

"Measures taken by the French, together with the arrival of the rainy season, will probably give a halt of several months," he said.

"In my opinion the sudden advance of elements of the Communist Viet Minh forces, toward the Siamese frontier ought not to lead us to conclude that it is a Soviet inspired move inconsistent with the next attitude of the Soviet government."

"This may, unhappily, prove to be the case, but also it might well have arisen from local circumstances and impulses and from plans made months ago."

Touching on other foreign problems, Churchill said:

1. Britain will defend her Suez Canal bases if Egypt attacks them. He offered to renew talks at any time and said it would be still better if Egypt were to agree to the United States' joining in the talks.

2. Britain will stand by her obligations to Western Germany regardless of a strong British desire to reach a friendly settlement with the Soviet Union.

"I should be very content with the Soviet Union."

as he stepped into the truck hut. It was raining and Harrison wore a green army raincoat and rubber boots.

He brought up the subject of the Communist commission and again asked Nam for an explanation of how this agency could avoid placing some prisoners in indefinite captivity if the Communist plan was followed.

The U. N. objected to this section of the plan because it could mean a prisoner, to avoid extensive detention, would consent eventually to return to communism against his will.

at the scene, reported it had several survivors.

Some of those rescued were pulled from the paralyzingly cold water wearing life jackets.

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn. — The Great Lakes freighter Henry, member of the Henry, sank in heavy waves off Isle Royale in Lake Superior with 31 aboard early today. Ships in the vicinity reported sighting a life boat and a raft bearing people.

Eight survivors were on the wind-whipped water, rescue ships said.

The Coast Guard station at Grand Rapids reported it had in received radio messages from the steamer Clemons and the steamer Sykes in the vicinity of the accident.

The message said "have sighted one raft and one life boat with people on them. Not able to pick up yet." Wreckage also was sighted in the area.

The Steinbrenner was reported sunk about 15 miles off the south coast of Isle Royale, about midway between Isle Royale light station and Passage Island at the northeast tip of the island. The area station is located at the tip of the arm forming Siskiwit Bay.

A report from the Clemons heard at 6:25 a.m. said the Steinbrenner had radioed its batches had blown off in strong wind and that it was taking on water.

The Steinbrenner, a 6,500-ton vessel left Duluth at 8 a.m. Sunday with a load of iron ore for town like points.

The ship was reported to have struck a reef in the same vicinity as the ill-fated Empress, a Canadian ship, which went down June 4, 1947. Twelve crewmen lost their lives.

got off with the least amount of rainfall.

In Jonesboro, high winds and a heavy rain blew limbs off trees and inundated the city power plant. Jonesboro streets were flooded and many cars were filled with water.

Weiner, 22 miles south of Jonesboro, also was hit by winds which blew down a 2-room Negro house. A stove was upset, setting the house afire. Five Negroes escaped without serious injury.

A billboard sign in Weiner, just replaced after it was knocked down in a storm a few weeks ago, was blown down again today.

DOROTHY DIX

Is She Spoiling Her Husband?

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think it's wrong to spoil a husband? I love doing things to please Michael, though I know he could very well do them for himself. I think more marriages would succeed if wives were more concerned with pleasing their men, than with demanding attention for themselves.

BETSY
Answer: You certainly have a point, Betsy. Of course, the term "spoiling" is subject to various interpretations; to give into a man on every count, just to keep peace, or to try to please him when a mean disposition will never be assigned, is ridiculous. But your attitude of giving care and attention to an appreciative mate, whose love for you increases with your rodding, is above reproach.

Conductive To Happiness
It's natural to want to wait on those we love, give them extra attention, show affection. It's also natural to want like treatment in return, and the happiest marriages are those in which both husband and wife spare no effort in mutual demonstrations of tenderness.

Your friends who have neither the will nor the time for devotion may laugh at you for your efforts, but pay them no heed. You're on the right track, as your happiness proves clearly. A man whose home is chock-full of warmth won't be as likely to wander as the one who comes home to a cold hearth and a chilly wife. "The prospect of a heartful welcome and an approving smile" is a powerful incentive.

Mrs. Owen White, Fernside, and Edna Garret, 22, Little Rock, died when they were trapped in a blazing car after the collision several miles west of Little Rock.

Two other passengers in the White car, Frank Boyles, 19, of Fernside, and Alice Hughes, 22, of Little Rock, were burned.

Boyles said their car was parked off the highway after its lights failed. He said another automobile struck the rear of the vehicle, and the flames, Boyles said, he was able to pull out only Miss Hughes.

At Warren, 19-year-old Pvt. Lloyd Grider died when the motorcycle he was riding with a friend and an automobile collided.

State Police Sgt. Otto Griffin said Grider's companion, Tommy Parnell, 17, was injured seriously. He had picked up Grider when he arrived at Warren on his first return home after being inducted about three months ago.

One Division of Reds Still in Indochina

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — One of the last chapters in the Communist-led Vietnamese invasion of the kingdom of Laos appeared today as nearly two full divisions of the Red invaders crossed the northern frontier into North Vietnam.

Another Vietnamese division was expected to be out of Laos within 48 hours.

This would leave only crack Division No. 304, which invaded from the east, still in Laos. It was based around Xiengkhouang, 50 miles southeast of the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

Apparently had been ordered by the Vietnamese high command to hang on to cover the withdrawal northward and to attack the French-Laoan forces.

With every break in the heavy downpour, French bombers and fighters struck at them. The French said it was impossible to estimate the enemy losses, but probably they were heavy.

Despite the withdrawal of most of the invasion force, Vietnamese forces in battalion strength still encircled and repeatedly attacked the two northern French posts of Muong Khouang and Muong Sal.

Among the planes parachuting supplies to the embattled French outposts and still reinforcing the main Laos defense points were six huge flying boxcars, rushed here last week by the U. S. government and operated by 14 American civilian fliers.

U. S. authorities here refused to identify the Americans but in Hong Kong referred U. S. Maj. Gen. Chas. L. Chennault's Civil Air Transport line disclosed its pilots were flying the big C-119 planes.

lost soldiers to be available immediately after the Russian attack, supported by other ground divisions in reserve.

The British have apparently discarded this concept as politically, economically and logistically impossible, which is confirmed by such an expert as General Bomber Fellows in his book, "Wings for Peace." The British feel that no ground troops can be successful unless the air-atomic attack has been decisive. If the British view is correct, then our preparations must be centered on an air-atomic strategy.

The difference in view between air and infantry reaches the surface now because decisions have to be made as to costs of operations. The British and the other NATO countries cannot bear the continuing costs and have been forced to depend upon American aid—a method of financing to which there is a rising tide of opposition in America, because taxes are too high in Europe, because dependence is unpalatable.

A military friend of mine suggests that a $400,000,000 appropriation should be taken down into three parts: $20,000,000 for Air, $10,000,000 for Navy, $10,000,000 for Ground Troops, and $10,000,000 for Research and Development. This ratio does not include aid to European countries which may run to between $6,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000, depending upon how much preparation is needed. And these figures do not include all the costs of the Korean War, which in their totality cannot even be estimated.

The point has been made by British military men that ground forces cannot be spread out around Russia and China to contain these countries. This, of course, ought to be obvious to anyone who looks at a map. To damage these enormous land masses, the United States and NATO must possess limitless quantities of weapons of mass destruction. Only when the enemy is sure of that fact will he be deterred from attacking us, as Winston Churchill has so often said. If equal manpower is unavailable, then science must make up the difference.

The lesson of the Korean War is that such soldiers as the Chinese and Koreans, who had, for so many years, been regarded as inferior, can do some very modern fighting if adequately armed and trained. Therefore, it is not realistic to had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Matthews and children of Ozon, Mrs. Joe Turnburo and Johnny of Silverport, and Mr. Fred City of Rosevelt, N. M.

Mrs. J. C. Stegar and Mrs. Rodmy Hamilton were the guests on Thursday and Friday of Mrs. T. S. Grayson in Magnolia and attended the Centennial celebration.

Ike to Get Full Report on India

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, refreshed after a weekend vacation in Central Pennsylvania, gets a report today on conditions in India.

The President arranged to center at the White House with Chester Bowles, who has just returned from New Delhi, where he served as U. S. ambassador during the Truman administration.

Bowles, Democratic former governor of Connecticut and World War II price administrator, has been replaced in India by George V. Allen.

The President postponed his regular Monday morning conference with Republican congressional leaders until tomorrow because some of them were out of town.

speaking of superiority unless the superiority is in weapons.

Again, the question of priority arises. If the Russians ever gain air-atomic superiority, they can knock out Great Britain and attack the United States. General Bomber Fellows says:

"Were the jet engines in a modern bomber to run continuously for eight hours, they could propel it from the walls of the Kremlin to the steel mills near Chicago. It is that simple. If war comes, air attacks against America from Russia would be just as feasible as were our own attacks against Japan from Guam and Saipan in World War II."

The British take this view very seriously because, if the Russians gain priority, the British know of no effective defense against atomic attack at this time. They could be paralyzed, if not destroyed, in a few hours after war started. Therefore, so far as I can learn, they want us to hold air-atomic superiority to negate any Russian concept of priority.

This is a difficult article for a layman to write because in translating a vast quantity of material into a short column, he undoubtedly oversimplifies. Yet, it seems clear to me that air-atomic superiority rather than a sentimentality about ground troops should be our budgetary target.

New Device Sees Action of Pilots

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Flight surgeons now have a way of watching from the ground by radio the heart and brain action, breathing and temperature of pilots aloft.

Any dimming of pilot alertness can be detected so quickly around that the doctor will know about it before the flier himself is aware that anything is wrong.

Instantly the doctor can warn the flier by radio and perhaps prevent a crash. But even if the warning is too late the physician still has a record of what happened and may use it to work out ways of preventing a recurrence.

Since aviation now is in the transition between propeller flight and thrust jet and rocket flight, the machine will be of extreme importance in determining how men can endure and survive rocket transportation much faster than the speed of sound.

The complicated device, developed by a Navy medical officer, was demonstrated openly for the first time yesterday. It will be a star exhibit at the world meeting of the Aero Medical Association, opening today.

Father of the complicated instrument is Comdr. Norman E. Barr, head of the aviation division of the Navy Medical Research Institute at Bethesda, Md.

Basically it is a combination of some well-known medical instruments, a couple of extremely sensitive temperature-measuring devices and an ultra-high frequency radio transmitter.
